CLASS HISTORY

In the fall of 1935, a class of sixty-one freshman, forty-two girls and nineteen boys, entered Franklin High School. It was the present Senior Class, which so long ago set sail on the waters of higher learning. Ours was "The Good Ship Knowledge," and our port: "Scholastic Achievement." Have we reached it? You may be the judge. I turn back the pages of our high school career and visions of the past come before our eyes. There is the High School Glee Club; a liberal amount of its number are freshmen. Here we see a game of basket-ball in progress; its players are freshmen. In music, dramatics, art, and public speaking, our class took an active part.

The next year we continued the voyage as sophomores with twenty-eight girls and eleven boys. It was this year that Faye Cooke and Lillian Badgett made the second basket-ball team, and Evelyn Simmons, Faye, and Dolia Gordon gained renown in the field of dramatics. I fear the light of knowledge burned less bright during the second lap of our voyage. We became an established part of high school life. It was no longer new and our class functioned as a single unit.

In the year of '37 we again assembled for the roll-call and our number was still smaller: twenty-three girls and six boys. Later Roy Kirkman enrolled, proving to be an asset on the basket-ball team. Our junior year was filled with numerous activities. For the Junior-Senior Party we gave a barn-warming, and we took an active part in this term's graduation.

Last fall the fourth lap of our voyage was begun with yet a smaller number. This year has not been all clear sailing. We have had differences among ourselves and activities have filled the year to the brim. Athletics, dramatics, in the form of the Senior play, and now commencement and graduation. The end of our voyage draws near. Port is in sight. We turn from visions of the past to visions of the future. What will be our mode of travel in the journey of life? "Quien sabe?" as the Spanish say, "who knows?"

BETTY HATCHER, HISTORIAN

CLASS PROPHECY

"Wake up, Faye, wake up," Alice cried as she started to wake her from deep slumber.

"Oh-o-um-mm," Faye yawned as she awoke. When she saw Alice, she at once thought of the dream she had just had. "Oh! Alice!" she exclaimed, "I have just had the most wonderful dream." I dreamed I visited Franklin High School and found out from Mr. Mcleod and the teachers what all my class mates were doing. I was surprised and happy, too, to find out the accomplishments each had made.

Charles Burroughs was a veterinary surgeon and had migrated to the far west. He has originated a new species of cow-boy, who changes the cut of his costume every new moon and throws the lasso ambidexterously.

Edith Miller had been given a position as a cloak and suit model with Madame Bazook of Paris, where her histrionic powers were given full sway.

Dorothy Francis, whose ambition was always to be an aviatrix, had won the powder-puff race for women in Los Angeles.

Evelyn, and her husband, Pat, went to Africa, where they became possessors of the largest diamond in the world, which they finally exchanged for a log cabin in the mountains.

Betty Hatcher now holds a position as literary critic and poet laureate for the Federal government.

Warren Simmons had taken a great interest in the training of boys and girls and is dedicating his life to reforming them with the help of an electric spanking machine.

Roy Kirkman after graduating from college, had circumnavigated the globe three times with a Ford motor car and a birch-bark canoe. On his second trip he met Lillian Badgett, who had become a college dean. After a short happy courtship they were married and took the third trip together.

Dolia Gordon was a successful nurse in one of the leading hospitals in New York City.

Swain Cooke had become one of the most famous aviators of today. He was rapidly achieving the name of a second Howard Hughes.

Lovie Cundiff and her husband had migrated to Florida, bought a thousand acres of un-irrigated land and were raising onions on a gigantic scale.

Marion Harbour was the proprietor of a theater.

Rebecca McMillan, whose hobby was chowing gum, had become the manager of one of Chicago's leading gum factories.

Mary Gardner, was the proud owner of a beauty-parlor for screen-stars in Hollywood.

Charles Brinkley had traveled to the remotest corners of the earth in search of a wife, returning to marry his next-door neighbor, who had meanwhile become a widow.

Jettie Vernon had become a successful milliner, whose headgear astonished the world.

Warren Booker was in California, rapidly becoming rich by gathering snails and selling them to French restaurants.

Nannie Jarrell was a floor-lady in a hosiery mill but was considering giving up her job to marry a hosiery salesman.

Mario Allred and Gertrude Sheldon were established as the owners of Raleigh, N.C., beauty-shop.

Rushie Lineback was the wife of a preacher and teaching a Sunday School Class.

Mary Hope Booker, whose love for sweets had nearly sent the senior boys into bankruptch, was a fore-lady in one of Chicago's leading candy factories.

Leona Marion, always sympathetic, is superintendent of nurses in a Washington hospital.

Coy Kirkman had achieved fame as the 440 yard race man on the All-American track team.

Rachel Willard had just received a large check for her first book of poems.

Virginia Beamer had become a well-loved B.T.U. lecturer in North Carolina because of her ever-readyness to assist young people to appreciate Christianity.

"And Alice, I dreamed you were an accomplished musician playing in St. Paul's Cathedral.

"That a Beautiful dream, Faye. What became of You?

"I even dreamed what I was doing. I had become a commercial teacher and opened a business college; no entrance fee except the students being able to do the two-step."

CLASS WILL

I, the Class of 1939, Franklin High School, come to my last hours in my right mind and in peace with all the world, do hereby bequeath and devise all my worldly goods and possessions to the following beneficiaries, to wit.:

To Franklin School, a large barrell of sparkling gratitude drawn from the deepest wells of memory, and kept cool and refreshing by large chunks of cold common sense supplied by the principal, Mr. McLeod.

We, the members of the senior class, considering it fairly well settled that we are to graduate this year, do hereby bequeath our several belongings to following persons in this, our last will and testament:

Mary Gardner and Jettie Vernon will their musical voices to Ethel Lee Stantliff and Glen Blackburn, hoping their sucess will be as great.

Virginia Beamer wills her ability to learn to Clyde Brown.

Marion Harbour wills her chewing gum to Grace Wilmoth.

Faye Cooke wills her dignity to Eva Lee Haynes.

Evelyn Simmons Ramey wills her ability to act to Lois Lineback.

Alice Allred will her red hair to Mozelle Renegar.

Swain Cooke wills his height to Henry Allred hoping he will attain the same by the time he becomes a senior.

Charles Brinkley will the keys of the school bus to John Greenwood.

Gertrude Shelton wills her talkativeness to Zadia

Edith Miller wills her curly hair to Virginia Allred.

Betty Hatcher wills her height to Lela Moseley.

Rachel Willard wills her poetic ability to Lottie Belle Cundiff.

Warren and Warren Incorporated will their company to Johnson and Weddle.

Dolia Gordon and Mary Hope Booker will their

WILL continued:

tongues and appetites to Alma Nichols and Josephine Hudson. ("Yoo hoo, Harold")

Roy Kirkman wills his ability to handle the senior girls to Edward McGee.

Lillian Badgett wills her place on the basketball squad to Louise Simmons.

Nannie Jarrell wills her ability to study to Clara Belle Allred.

Rushie Lineback wills her smiling eyes to Ruby Wilmoth.

Leona Marion wills her graceful manner to Helen Horton.

Rebecca McMillan wills her taste for ice-cream and candy to Christine Witt.

Coy Kirkman wills his smile to T. W. Estes, hoping it may possess the same charm for the ladies.

Charles Burroughs wills his job of getting newspaper and year-book to Harold Stone.

Lovie Cundiff wills her luck in love to Guida McCraw, wishing her as much success as she has accomplished in the past four years.

To the Junior Class of 1939, it is our privilege to will all the dignity we did not possess, and all the privileges we did not have, so you won't be kept under strict rules next year. We will you our friendliness and all the good advice we refused to take. To you we leave our seats in the detention hall. Don't have a "Sneak Day" and maybe you won't need them.

For the Faculty, a papier-mache ~~basket~~ bas-relief of a worm in the act of turning, made of detention hall slips. Also an engraved testimonial signed by the school doctor, to the effect that we have come through four years of struggle with an unexcelled record in the matter of heart action, cranial expansion, weight reduction, and synthetic complexions.

I, Dorothy Francis, testator for the Class of 1939, will all the pencil stubs, left-over erasers and any pieces of paper that I failed to use in the drawing up of this, our Last Will and Testament, to the testator of the Class of 1940.

VALEDICTORY

It is not an easy or pleasant task to have to say goodbye. But in behalf of the Senior Class of 1939, it is my duty to leave with you some final thoughts, which I hope will express to each of you our love and appreciation for all that has been done for us during our school life.

To our parents we would express our appreciation of the opportunity you have given us of going to school, for the care you have provided, and the interest you have always shown in us. It is our earnest hope that we will never disappoint you.

We feel that we owe to Mr. McLeod and to all our teachers a debt that we can never repay. To them we owe the ideals we have of making our lives mean something in this busy world. We appreciate your faith in us and we hope to live up to your expectations.

Now, in return, I am going to promise to all our friends and parents who are here tonight, that we, as the graduating class of 1939, make a solemn pledge that for each year we live in this community we are going to give the best of our knowledge, physical efforts, and financial aid toward making our community become- not just a better place- but the best place in North Carolina in which to live.

I am proud to speak for the class of 1939 and to express our appreciation to each one of you for your presence here tonight.

The Junior Class of Franklin High School entertained the Senior Class at a Masquerade Party, March 25, 1939. The scene of the party was the school gymnasium, which was decorated in blue and gold, the Senior colors.

Various committees were selected by the class to provide an interesting evening. Progressive games, consisting of Chinese checkers, Rook, picture puzzles, and needles were played, Miss Kendall winning high score. Prizes also were awarded to Nannie Jarrell and John Greenwood for the two best costumes.

After the games were played refreshments were served by members of the Sophomore Class.

GIRL'S BASKETBALL-1938-1939

Franklin girls had a very successful year in basketball, winning 19 out of 27 games. Letters were awarded to the following girls who played in 2/3 of the games for their first year: Rebecca McMillan, Josephine Hudson, Grace Wilmoth, Edith Jarrell, and Ola Faye Boyles.

Stars were awarded to the following for second and third years' services: Lillian Badgett, Captain, Josephine Nichols, Dolia Gordon, Mary Hope Booker, Marion Harbour, Lela Moseley, Faye Cooke, and Louise Simmons.

Josephine Nichols was high scorer for the year with 320 points; Lillian Badgett made 244, and Dolia Gordon scored 177. Mary Hope Booker, Lela Moseley and Marion Harbour did excellent guarding throughout the season. Total points: Franklin: 794; Opponents: 621.

This fine team deserves the congratulations of the student body and community for its splendid record, and for the excellent spirit of good sportsmanship shown throughout the year.

Members of the squad are as follows:

L. Badgett, Captain	F. Cooke
J. Nichols	R. McMillan
D. Gordon	L. Simmons
M. H. Booker	J. Hudson
M. Harbour	G. Wilmoth
L. Moseley	E. Jarrell
O.M. Boyles	O.F. Boyles
D. Nichols	O. Booker

BOYS BASKETBALL- 1938-39

The Franklin Boys had a very successful year in basketball winning 13 out of 25 games played, which gave them a per cent of---52%.

The boys who were awarded letters are the following;

Glen Brown
Charles Burroughs
Eugene Caudle
Robert Holder

Stars were awarded to the second year boys:

Roy Kirkman William Carter
T.W. Estes
Tommie Jones
Keith Gant
Jack Johnson
Heywood Weddle

The points scored during the season--550. The opponents scored --546

The leading scorers for the boys were Estes, Jones, and Gant. The defensive stars were Kirkman and Carter.

Substitutions; Weddle, Brown, Johnson, and Burroughs, who always played a good defensive game and kept the regulars hustling all the time.

High Spot of the Season--Defeating the strong Boonville Team 21 to 20, in the Flat Rock Tournament, and defeating the same team 28 to 26 in an extra period game in the Franklin Gym.

THE SUCCESS OF THE BASKET-BALL SEASON CANNOT BE-MENTIONED WITHOUT FIRST THINKING OF THE TIRELESS WORK OF COACH HIATT. FACING THE PROBLEM OF BUILDING AN ALMOST ENTIRE NEW TEAM HE TURNED OUT A TEAM WHICH MADE THE BETTER TEAMS OF SURRY AND ADJOINING COUNTIES SIT UP AND TAKE NOTICE. THEY WON MORE THAN HALF OF THE GAMES PLAYED AND THE GAMES LOST WERE CLOSE ONES. THE OPPOSING TEAMS HAD TO FIGHT ALL THE WAY IN ORDER TO OVERPOWER THE SCRAPPY TEAM WHICH COACH HIATT HAD SO WELL TRAINED.

TRACK ACTIVITIES

Franklin shared second place honors in the annual track meet by tying with Westfield. Our squad made 31 points but was edged out by Cope-land who made 33/3.

Coy Kirkman won first place in 880-yard run and broke his own record set in 1936. Charles Burroughs took first place in 75-yard hurdles.

Roy Kirkman, Burroughs, McKinney and Coy Kirkman won the 880-yard relay.

Second places were won in the mixed 400-yard relay, 440-yard dash, 220-yard dash, and 100-yard dash, for boys, and in the baseball throw, and broad jump for girls.

DRAMATICS
1938-1939

During the school term of 1938-1939 three plays have been presented by members of Franklin High School. The first play of the year, "The Life of Riley", was presented in the school auditorium at 8:00 P. M. on the evening of December 1. Its plot, written as a farce, revolved merrily around a mix-up created from mistaken identities. The cast consisted of the following:

Lovey Riley, a baby talk bride--	Christine Witt
Celia Masters, her sister-----	Rachel Willard
Terry Riley, her husband-----	Glenn Brown
Mrs. Beulah Riley, her mother-----	Lela Mosley
Thelma, Terry's sister-in-law-----	Helen Horton
Sadie Cohen, the maid-----	Mary Gardner
Mrs. Michael Casey, a neighbor---	Margaret Rose
Tim Sweeney, a G-Man-----	Charles Burroughs
Warner C. Steele, Terry's close friend-----	T. W. Estes
Two-Time Riley, a desperate character-----	Rowe McKinney
Mona Morris, a swimming champion-----	Lillian Badgett

At this writing work is going forward on two plays: the Senior Play and the Commencement Play. The former play, "At the Sign of the Pewter Jug", is scheduled for Thursday evening, April 6. Miss Virginia Coltrane, Senior Advisor, is coaching the play, which promises to be most entertaining. The cast is as follows:

Suzanne Shuler-----	Lillian Badgett
Lela Shuler-----	Lovie Condiff
Barbara Shuler-----	Faye Cook

The three girls who own the inn:
"At the Sign of the Pewter Jug".

Mrs. Wellington Watts, from New York-----
Delia Gordon
Betty Wales, her daughter-----Edith Miller
William Norton, clerk at the inn-----
Charles Burroughs
John MacKenzie, from Texas-----Swain Cooke
Joseph Weatherbee, over 60-----Roy Kirkman
Boris IX, Prince of Valencia-----
Robert Doolittle, who does much-----
Charles Brinkley
Mary McCarthy, the cook-----Alice Allred

The Commencement Play is entitled "The Man in the Green Shirt". Miss Kendall is directing this play, whose cast is drawn mainly from the Junior Class. The play is to be presented Tuesday Night, April 25. The cast:

Mr. George T. Fuller, always out of money-----
T. W. Estes
Mr. Ivan Ross, a guest from Arkansas-----
Harold Stone
Mr. Egbert Cain, a clever crook-----
Edward McGee
William Roach, hired man of the Fullers-----

HOME ECONOMICS

The Home Economics Department feels that it has had a highly successful year. There were sixty-two students enrolled consisting of twenty-three first year students and thirty-nine second year students. The year's study centered around the following topics with their under-lying units;

First Year-----The Girl
Personal Grooming And Health
Food For The High School Girl
Clothing For The High School Girl
Personal And Social Development

Second Year-----The Girl And Her Family
Maintenance of Family Health
Food For The Family
Clothing For The Family
Making Our Homes More Livable
And Attractive
Mechanics of The Home
Living Together

The Franklin Home Economics Department tied for second place in the second annual Surry County Fashion Show, held at Mt. Airy, April 18. Those winning honors were as follows:

Wool skirt and blouse---Mary Hope Booker, 1st
Underwear--Lela Lawrence, 1st and 2nd
Cotton dress--Oneda Bocker, 2nd
Silk dress--Kathleen Felter, 3rd

---Christine Jones

GIRL'S CHORUS

The Girl's Chorus is composed of forty-five members taken from the four high school classes. It was originally organized as a glee-club under the direction of Mrs. H. G. Stanley. For the past two years this organization has rendered songs for school programs, plays, and commencement exercises.

This year the Chorus took part in the District Music Contest, which was held in Winston-Salem, N. C., April 1. This contest was a feature of a state wide music program, this year being the first our school has entered. The Chorus also sang a special number at the Friends Church in Mt. Airy, March 26.

We are hoping more interest will be taken in our organization next year. We hope to have a mixed-chorus and a course in Music Appreciation for high school students soon.

The Franklin 4-H Club has increased rapidly in the past year. More of the members are taking interest in the projects sponsored by the club.

Due to the enterprise and cooperation of Mary Hope Booker, program chairman, we have had some very interesting meetings this year.

In the November meeting the members drew names for presents to be given at the December meeting. At the later meeting the social hour in which these presents were presented proved to be very entertaining.

During the March meeting we elected the delegates that were to represent our club at the 4-H Short Course held during the summer at North Carolina State College, Raleigh, N.C. Josephine Hudson, Hazel Tickle, Tommie Jones, and John Greenwood were chosen.

The most enjoyable feature of the year, perhaps, was the club picnic. The picnic constituted our May meeting. The following served on the picnic committee: Evelyn Simmons Raley, Guida McCraw, Edward McGee, and Harold Stone.
